ABSTRACT

The goal of this study is to analyze the differences of the main characters in Rain Man Movie, Charlie Babbit and Raymond Babbit’s behavior throughout their life. This research is using qualitative method and literature research. In analyzing this movie, first, their characterizations are described by using literary theory and Freud’s psychoanalysis theory such as narcissism and autism. The second is their id, ego and superego reveal the love which is hidden in their unconscious mind. The third is their ego defense mechanisms prevent their anxiety. The fourth is the sibling relationships between two brothers who have different personalities affect their life. Their life are enlighten through the good and difficult times during their journey from Ohio to Los Angeles and finally Charlie realize that his brother is important to his life although Raymond does not know what happens due to his savant syndrome. The result of this study are an individual’s personality can be changed because of the effects of sibling relationship, and an autistic savant can feel the concern of others toward him/her although he/she cannot show his/her expression.

Keywords: character, psychoanalysis, narcissism, autistic savant, sibling relationship.