

ABSTRACT

This thesis is focusing on creating a solution for a problem that is occurred inside the break dancing community in Indonesia. The solution will be in a form of a website in which the system design is designed by the author and the final product will be coded but not by the author himself.

Based on the research that the author done, the existing system or website that exists does not satisfy the user requirement. Therefore, the author chose to pick this topic and create a design for a new social network that is focused for break dancing community in Indonesia.

Key words

Break dance, Social Network, Indonesia