ABSTRACT

This research is about Robert Frost’s sad life through his poems. The writer does this research because he wants to know more about Robert Frost’s part of sad life which is reflected in his poems, and also discuss about the figurative languages and symbols in the poems. This research is useful to know more about Robert Frost’s sad life and the mystery behind his works, and this research is useful also to train analysis skill. This research is qualitative research or library research, where the writer read the biography of the poet and focuses to the part of his sad life. After that the writer chooses the poems which are related to the poet’s sad life by finding the information about the poems. This research also use several sources as the supporting like books, journal, articles and online resources. And as the tool for analysis, this research use psychoanalytic theory to analyze the poems and get detail information about Robert Frost’s works. This analysis is divided into the sad life of loss and loneliness, and in this analysis the writer find the related sad life stories in the poems which is reflected in his biography, and the writer also find what he feels when he writes the poems. The conclusions of this analysis are the poems are related to his part of sad life and the theory that is used is appropriate.

Keywords: Robert Frost, sad life, and poems.