ABSTRACT

The novel Sons and Lovers is the autobiographical novel of David Herbert Lawrence—one of the great English authors. This novel has an interesting part which make the writer wants to analyze it. The interesting part of the novel is the theme of the novel, mother domination. Actually, there are other themes in this novel but the most interesting theme is the mother domination. The writer wants to know how far the influence of the mother domination towards her child is. In analyzing this novel, the writer uses library research by reading the novel, Sons and Lovers, books on the theory of mother domination and other related books. After finished analyzing, the writer then makes the conclusion that the effects of mother domination still gives great effects towards her son even though his mother is dead.
