ABSTRACT

Looking for something different in one’s life is also usually looking for something different in the society. Therefore, it is related to the changing that will happen soon in one’s life and even the society. The changing usually will influence the whole aspect of life and the whole aspect in the society. It will give a big impact to one’s life and for the society itself; it will influence the norms, moral values, attitudes, and also behavior of one’s society. The changing that happened usually is called as Social Change. So, I will relate my thesis with social change because the film which is going to be analyzed, Chocolat (directed by Lasse Hallstrom), really shows the changes of the whole society. It gave a clear picture about the townsmen’s life before and after their lives changed. I will also give the explanation about temperament, especially the type of temperament that the main character, Vianne Rocher, had as the person who brought the changes. Thus, my goals for this thesis are to find out some changes in the film and try to find out Vianne’s temperament. For this thesis, I try to get all the sources from library and also the internet to help me in composing this thesis. In conclusion, I hope that I can present the whole changes that occurred to their lives and also get the temperament of Vianne.
