ABSTRACT

The aim of this paper is to let Conrad’s readers to understand Conrad’s works, especially ‘Youth’, through his way of life. This paper consists of Conrad’s brief biography and the analyze of ‘Youth’. ‘Youth’ is an adventurous story which was told by a man named Marlow. The old Marlow was retelling the story to his fellows. He was remembering his own youth which was almost the same experience that Conrad once had. That’s why ‘Youth’ is called a semi-biography story. To understand ‘Youth’ is to understand Conrad.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am extremely grateful to my tutors for their help, and in particular to Ms. Dra. Ruth Sih Kinanti, Mr. Rudi Purwanto, M.Ed, Ms. Dra. Wiwik Andreani and Ms. Dra. Ienneke Indra Dewi for their consultation and patience. I wish also to acknowledge the value of the encouragement of those friends with whom I discussed this book. My thanks to my parents, for their support and love. Ultimately, I wish to record my appreciation for the help of God, who always help me and protect me when I was desperate and stumble.

Jakarta, April 2002

Ming ming
TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1  INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background of Study ..................................................1
1.2 Statement of the Problem ..............................................2
1.3 Scope and Limitation ..................................................2
1.4 Goal and Function ....................................................2
1.5 Writing Methodology ..................................................3

CHAPTER 2  UNDERSTANDING CONRAD'S LIFE

2.1 Introduction ............................................................4
2.2 Biography ..............................................................4

CHAPTER 3  NOSTALGIA IN CONRAD'S LIFE

3.1 Introduction ............................................................11
3.2 The Paradox ............................................................14
3.3 The Inner Conflict .....................................................16
3.4 The Ship ...............................................................17
3.5 The Sea .................................................................19

CHAPTER 4  CONCLUSION ..................................................21

CHAPTER 5  SUMMARY ( IN INDONESIAN) ..................................22

References .................................................................23
Curriculum Vitae .........................................................24